1. LEGAL BASIS FOR THE INQUIRY

The Competition Commission (“the Commission”) will conduct a market inquiry into the supply and distribution of Liquid Petroleum Gas (“LPG”) in South Africa in terms of Chapter 4A¹ of the Competition Act, 89 of 1998 (as amended) (“the Act”) and in keeping with the purpose and functions of the Commission set out in section 2 and section 21 of the Act respectively. Section 21 of the Act calls on the Commission to, inter alia, “implement measures to increase market transparency” and “advise, and receive advice from, any regulatory authority”. In order to fulfil these functions, and in line with the purpose of the Act, Chapter 4A of the Act enables the Commission to conduct market inquiries in respect of the “general state of competition in a market for particular goods or services, without necessarily referring to the conduct or activities of any particular named firm”.² A market inquiry is thus a general investigation into the state, nature and form of competition in a market, rather than a narrow investigation of specific conduct by any particular firm.

The Commission is initiating an inquiry into the LPG sector because it has reason to believe that there are features of the sector that prevent, distort or restrict competition. The Commission further believes that conducting this inquiry will assist in understanding how it may promote competition in the LPG sector, in furtherance of the purpose of the Act. One of the prerequisites to commence a market inquiry is that the Commission must develop and publish Terms of Reference (“ToR”) for the market inquiry. These ToR must include, “at a minimum, a statement of the scope of the inquiry and the time within which it is expected to be completed. In accordance with these provisions, this ToR sets out the scope of the market inquiry, as well as the expected timelines for the inquiry.

Although the ToR delimits the scope of the market inquiry as currently envisaged, additional and related matters not identified herein may arise during the conduct of the inquiry. If the Commission believes that the ToR should be amended in any way, either through the addition of new matters or exclusion of matters currently identified herein, the ToR may be amended in terms of section 43B (5) of the Act.

¹ Chapter 4A of the Act, which introduces the powers to conduct market inquiries came into effect on 01 April 2013

² According to section 43B (1)(i) of the Act, the Commission may initiate a market inquiry if it has reason to believe that any feature or combination of features of a market for any goods and services prevents, distorts or restricts competition within the market.

2. PRODUCT OVERVIEW

LPG is a liquefied and mixed gaseous hydrocarbon³. Although there are many variations of LPG, it is primarily made up of propane (60%) and butane (40%)⁴, which are compressed into liquid form for ease of transport, storage and handling. LPG is produced as part of a chemical process either as a by-product of the refinery process or it can be extracted “from oil or ‘wet’ natural gas streams as they emerge from the ground.”⁵ It can also be produced by blending the two ingredients together. It is stored in tanks, mainly in liquid form and transported by road tanker trucks or in cylinders. LPG is used in many applications, however, the basic product is homogenous in the sense that the physical features and the quality of the product supplied by each supplier is the same.

LPG is primarily used as a thermal fuel and is consumed by industrial, commercial and household consumers. It burns cleanly, releasing very few sulphur emissions, and posing no ground or water pollution hazards. There are over a thousand applications of LPG particularly in commercial and industrial businesses. In particular, LPG is used in the following industries:

- Industrial customers: for heating purposes where a readily controlled temperature is needed, i.e. motor vehicle paint shops or as fuel for fork lift trucks within warehouses etc.
- Commercial: This includes, for example, a shopping centre with a number of restaurants which may have one bulk tank with LPG reticulated to individual restaurants/stores.
- Households: LPG is mainly used by households for heating and cooking

There are various possible substitutes for LPG depending on the intended end use; these include natural gas, electricity, biomass (wood), fossil fuel (coal) and solar equipment⁶. LPG generally differentiates itself from other energy sources on the basis of portability, convenience, low sulphur content, controllability and its clean burning nature. The confines of the market will become clearer during and after the market inquiry however the Tribunal has previously accepted a distinct market for LPG separate from other sources of energy⁷

3. THE SOUTH AFRICAN LPG SECTOR

Approximately 300 000 tons of LPG is manufactured and sold in South Africa annually generating a turnover of about R1.5 billion. The sector is however still characterised by limited supply with imports supplementing the domestic supply. Most of the LPG produced in South Africa is consumed by industrial users such as manufacturing plants and commercial users such as shopping centres with only marginal quantities consumed by households. Only about 3% of households in South Africa use LPG as their main energy source for cooking.⁸ The wholesaling of LPG is relatively capital intensive and requires investment in bulk transporters tankers, bulk storage facilities, cylinder filling plant, cylinders, cylinder delivery vehicles and installation on customer's premises⁹.

The LPG sector is highly regulated mainly to ensure the safety of both suppliers and end-users as the gas is hazardous. The Occupational and Health and Safety Act (No. 85 of 1993) and other fire safety regulations and municipal by-laws have made provisions which ensure that the safety component of LPG receives priority. The Department of Energy ("DoE") also sets strict regulations which ensure that infrastructure used to import and transport imported LPG meets the safety requirements of the country.

In addition to safety regulation, the price of LPG is also regulated at certain levels of the value chain in terms of the Petroleum Products Act. The DoE regulates the Maximum Refinery Gate Price of LPG ("MRGP") which is the price at which refineries sell LPG. This is done to ensure that LPG is priced in such a way that is aligned to strategic thrust of the DoE to strive for security of energy supply through diversity of energy supply including LPG. The MRGP is also designed to support the importation of LPG.¹⁰ The biggest single factor that affects the price of LPG is the price of crude oil. The volatility of the crude oil price causes constant fluctuations in the price of LPG¹¹. The LPG industry faces shortages from time to time, mainly in the winter months, largely due to unplanned shutdowns of refineries, late start-up after planned maintenance and limited storage facilities. Notwithstanding the shortages, importing is challenging as import facilities are limited and there are suggestions that imports are uneconomic at the MRGP.

The storage of LPG is also licensed and regulated by the National Energy Regulator of South Africa ("NERSA"). NERSA regulates LPG marine loading facilities, pipelines and storage facilities when the LPG is in liquid form. The Commission understands that the Government strategy has been to consolidate petroleum and petroleum product regulation under a single Act/regulator. This aspect will be interrogated further in the market inquiry.

The LPG value chain includes refineries, distributors/resellers, retailers and other stockists. The diagram below shows the different levels of the value chain before they are discussed thereafter:

3.1. The Refineries

¹¹ Department of Energy, (2013), Transformation of the Gas Sector. Presentation by Chief Director: Hydrocarbons Policy dated 13 August 2013

There are six refineries in South Africa involved in the production and supply of LPG. The refineries are generally dispersed across the country and are owned by the major oil companies. As noted above, LPG is regulated at this level of the value chain by DoE which sets the MRGP. The Commission understands that the refineries allocate a certain proportion of their total LPG supply to wholesalers; this may have an impact on competitive dynamics in the downstream wholesale market. The Commission has identified the following refineries in South Africa:

- Sapref (Durban)
- Sasol's Synfuels (CTL¹²) (Secunda)
- PetroSA's Synfuels (GLT¹³) (Mossel Bay)
- Natref (Sasolburg)
- Enref (Durban)
- Chevref (Cape Town)

LPG is also imported into South Africa via three small import facilities. Afrox imports through a facility owned by Island View storage located in Richard's Bay which has a 3500 ton working capacity. Easigas imports through facilities with a maximum holding capacity of 1600 tonnes in Port Elizabeth owned by Shell. There is also an import facility in Durban with a maximum holding capacity of 1000 tons owned by Sapref. The import facility owned by BP SA located in East London has been mothballed however there are plans to develop an import facility in Saldanha Bay¹⁴.

3.2. Resellers/Distributors

Major Resellers (MR's), according to the Petroleum Products Act 1977 ("PPA") are firms that play a distribution role for bulk gas, either distributing it in bulk or repackaging LPG to better suit customer demands. The LPG market in South Africa is primarily serviced by four large MR's, namely Afrox, Easigas, BPSA, and Total Gas though there are other small players in the market. There other smaller players at this level of the LPG value chain including Reatile Gas, Sol Gas, KayaGas etc. BP SA and Enref, as of August 2013, were the only firms which are vertically integrated in the LPG supply chain, being involved in both manufacturing and distributing.

¹² Coal-to-Liquid

¹³ Gas-to-Liquid

¹⁴ Discussion document on the Review of the Maximum Refinery Gate Price of Liquid Petroleum Gas. Government Gazette, Notice 886 of 2012. Dated 24 October 2012

Bulk LPG is purchased by the MR's, either from the oil refineries or imports. The gas is then transported either by rail or road to three possible destinations, namely:

- Directly to industrial and commercial end-user. These customers would generally store the LPG in bulk storage tanks provided by the MR on their premises. The supply to commercial entities often involves the reticulation of LPG to multiple end-users through a system of pipes connected to one or more storage tanks. Generally, the MR would also provide other equipment such as vaporizers, fire-fighting equipment and gas meters. .
- The MR's storage facilities and/or cylinder filling plants located in different parts of the country. The primary use of LPG supplied to these facilities would be to fill into cylinders at an adjacent filling plant owned by the MR. The cylinders are then supplied to commercial customers and end-users in LPG cylinders. Alternatively the LPG is supplied by the MR from the storage facility to bulk LPG industrial and commercial end-users such as shopping centres.
- LPG is stored in equipment supplied by the MR at the premises of the retailer who then fill the LPG into gas cylinders. All equipment, including filling platforms, cylinder filling scales, fire extinguishing equipment and ancillary equipment required to fill the gas cylinders is provided by the MR. LPG cylinders are then sold off to individual end-users and private households.

The Commission also understands that there are firms which trade at this level of the market which are not 'conventional' wholesalers of LPG. These firms, referred to as 'brokers', receive an allocation of LPG from the refineries and on-sell this (the allocation) to the wholesalers. These firms therefore do not participate actively in the wholesaling of LPG and may not even have the necessary equipment but rather play the role of a middleman between refineries and wholesalers in instances where they have managed to secure allocation. Due to the shortages in LPG supply, these firms may have an impact on competitive dynamics at the wholesale level of the market. This impact will be explored during the market inquiry.

3.3. Retailers

LPG is sold at the retail level in cylinders mainly used by household customers. This level of the market is largely fragmented with LPG being sold from a variety of outlets; these include:

filling station, grocery supermarkets and hardware stores. The Commission has provisionally identified the following dynamics at this level of the value chain:

- LPG is supplied in branded cylinders by the resellers to retailers who on-sell to end-users.
- LPG retailers are usually contracted and branded to a particular producer or wholesaler who owns storage and filling equipment. This is particularly the case for filling stations affiliated with the vertically integrated refineries.
- LPG usually yields a small portion of the turnover for most of these outlets and has small margins because the price is regulated.
- Transportation and storage costs in the supply chain result in higher prices to consumers however the small size of the market has not warranted larger-scale infrastructural investment for importation or local optimisation and distribution of bulk LPG

The demand for LPG in South Africa seems to be growing as more end-users diversify their energy mix in response to, amongst others; the power shortfalls and increasing electricity price¹⁵. LPG has been identified as an alternative energy carrier for the provision of quick and effective solutions to energy requirements. This has made it increasingly important for regulators not only to ensure that there is adequate supply to meet the growing demand, but also that there is a growing need to ensure that this sector is adequately managed and that the issues pertaining to safety regulations, accessibility, price regulations and competitiveness are prioritised.

4. RATIONALE FOR THE MARKET INQUIRY

4.1. Structural features of the market

LPG is manufactured by the oil companies in refineries as a by-product of the process of producing fuel. There are currently 6 refineries in South Africa, however only 2 of these firms are vertically integrated into the market for distribution of LPG – only 2 oil companies are also major resellers.

Afrox, the largest MR in South Africa is not vertically integrated. Afox purchases its LPG supply from the refineries and also imports a limited amount. The supply of LPG in South

¹⁵ Department of Energy, 2012. Transformation of the Gas Sector: Presentation.

Africa is not adequate to meet demand and this creates room for limited imports into the country.

The limited domestic supply is a concern for several reasons:

- Limited supply of LPG may create circumstances which may foster anti-competitive conduct by the firms involved. The fact that LPG is limited in supply is likely to confer substantial market power to the major resellers that are able to secure supply (allocation) of LPG from the refineries. The wholesale level is not regulated as indicated in figure 1 and discussed above.
- The strategic importance of being able to secure LPG can also be seen in the emergence of firms referred to as 'brokers' which are firms that trade in LPG refinery allocations.
- LPG is currently imported at very limited quantities, this suggests that imports are not providing a competitive constraint to the LPG supplied by the refineries and distributed by the resellers.

4.2. High switching costs

The LPG sector may be characterised by high switching costs, particularly for commercial and industrial customers. This may be in part due to the uncertainty that surrounds the current sourcing practises in the market when customers first make the decision to: a) use LPG as a source of energy and b) choose a particular firm to supply the customer with LPG. LPG supply for commercial and industrial customers is mainly done through the use of a bulk LPG tank distributing LPG to various points around the facility through a complex reticulation system. In most instances, this reticulation system is provided by the chosen supplier of LPG on the understanding that the supply will have exclusive rights to supply LPG for the customer.

The difficulty appears to arise at a later stage if a customer seeks to make the decision to switch to another supplier. It appears unclear who ownership of the reticulation system should cede to. This is exasperated by the fact that these complex systems are generally built into walls at the customer's premises, this means the option does not always exist to replace the system.¹⁶ There appears to be uncertainty when consideration is made of the safety aspect of the ownership and operation of reticulation systems. The uncertainty that surrounds reticulation systems when customers seek to switch to alternative suppliers of

¹⁶ Part of this formed the basis of the complaint by KayaGas filed with the Commission in May 2012

LPG may create a restriction to competition in the market, by artificially raising switching costs. It is also likely that this may create barriers to entry and expansion for smaller distributors who do not have the benefit of a first-mover advantage.

4.3. The regulatory environment

There is price regulation at the refinery level of the market (MGRP) and also at the retail level (cylinders) however the wholesale price of LPG is not regulated. The lack of regulation at this level of the market is likely to confer significant pricing power on the firms active at this level of the value chain; this is particularly so when one also considers the limited supply of LPG in South Africa.

The current regulatory environment does not encourage switching between major resellers which may serve to inhibit competition at that level of the value chain. The current safety regulation framework appears to favour the continued ownership of reticulation systems used by customers by resellers. By conflating the safe use of a reticulation system with its ownership, the regulatory framework may have served to increase switching costs between resellers of LPG, particularly for industrial and commercial customers.

4.4. LPG as a strategic energy source

The government through the National Development Plan and National Growth Path has identified LPG as being of strategic importance in an economy struggling with rising energy prices and an electricity supply under severe pressure. LPG has been identified as an alternative energy carrier of choice for household thermal needs. This is even more so when considering the increasing price and limited supply of traditional energy sources such as electricity which may serve to make them inaccessible for low-income households.¹⁷ LPG can therefore provide low-income households with an affordable alternative energy source; this will relieve them of the financial burden created by rising electricity supply and also serve to relieve some of the pressure on the electricity grid.

LPG is currently underutilised in South Africa as an energy source; only 3% of households in South Africa use LPG as their main energy source for cooking.¹⁸ The limited and the relatively high price of LPG may serve to keep its usage low.¹⁹ The market for LPG supply and distribution is unlikely to facilitate the usage expansion envisaged by the government with the aim of achieving the energy mix alluded to in the National Development Plan.²⁰ In order for South Africa to meet its strategic objectives as far as sustainable energy is concerned, it is important that the LPG sector is functioning effectively with consideration given to how competition principles can shape efficient market outcomes which will benefit the economy in general but also low-income households in particular.

¹⁷ Department of Energy, (2013), Transformation of the Gas Sector. Presentation by Chief Director: Hydrocarbons Policy dated 13 August 2013

5. PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES OF THE MARKET INQUIRY

The purpose of the market inquiry is:

- To examine whether there are features of the market which lessen, prevent or distort competition.
- To establish a factual basis for making recommendations to the relevant stakeholders on the state of competition in the sector and also the recommended course of action.

The main objectives of the market inquiry are to:

- To examine whether the supply bottlenecks in the LPG industry in South Africa may serve to create circumstances or incentives that serve to distort, prevent or lessen competition.
- To analyse the current price regulatory framework with the aim of examining whether there is room for improving regulation to limit the exercise of substantial market power by market participants.
- To examine whether the current features of the market increase switching costs to a prohibitive level when customers seek to switch between resellers of LPG.
- To assess the extent of the barriers to entry and general competition dynamics at various levels of the value chain.
- To make recommendations that may serve to improve the state of competition.
- To make recommendations on appropriate policy and regulatory mechanisms that would enhance competition. This, where possible, will be achieved through:
 - Reviewing international models for regulatory interventions
 - Engaging with different regulators and stakeholders to obtain their input
 - Identifying possible regulatory models/ options for South Africa

¹⁹ Matthews and Zeissig (2011), "Residential market for LPG : A Review of Experience of 20 Developing Countries" revealed that South Africa has the 3rd highest prices for retail LPG in a group of 20 developing countries

²⁰ The National Development Plan identifies increasing gas as a proportion of South Africa's energy mix and also reducing the country's carbon footprint as some of its objectives.

- To make recommendations with regard to the role of competition policy and competition law in achieving pro-competitive outcomes in the LPG sector in South Africa.

6. THE PROPOSED MARKET INQUIRY PROCESS AND TIMELINES

6.1. Market inquiry process

The Commission will evaluate the subject matter of the inquiry through a review of secondary material obtained via information requests, consultations and summons, as required. The Commission will also utilise public hearings and targeted interviews if the need arises. All interested and affected parties will be invited to submit information to the Commission which is relevant to the subject matter of the inquiry. The inquiry will be carried out by a team of the Commission's staff.

The participants in the market inquiry process will include: business enterprises along the LPG value chain (including manufacturers, wholesalers/distributors and retailers), other related business enterprises, end-users, government departments, public entities, regulatory authorities, industry associations, and any other stakeholders that may be able to provide information relevant to the market inquiry. Members of the public will be invited to participate in the inquiry during the information gathering phase and during the public hearings. Members of the public are encouraged to participate fully in the inquiry process.

The Commission is committed to the principles of fairness, transparency, and integrity and will conduct the inquiry in accordance with these principles. The Commission will allow stakeholders fair and reasonable opportunity to provide input into the inquiry process and its outcomes. Therefore the Commission will take reasonable steps to ensure that interested parties understand the Commission's thinking on the market inquiry as it develops. For this reason and its commitment to transparency, the Commission may release "issues statements" or interim reports throughout the market inquiry for public consideration and comment. The Commission may also release a report at the conclusion of the market inquiry.

The market inquiry will be carried out in three phases.²¹ These are detailed below:

KEY ACTIVITIES
Phase 1	Evidence Gathering/Investigation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Gather relevant information, data and evidence. • Research the industry background and relevant case law. • Review the regulatory framework. • Review supply agreements along the value chain. • Hold consultations with customers, competitors, government regulators and other relevant stakeholders.
Phase 2	Competition assessment <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Define markets (including a product and geographic market analysis). • Assess the competition dynamics in the defined markets • Assess whether there features of the market which lesson, prevent or distort competition • Evaluate whether there is substantial market power. • Assess barriers to entry and exit. • Evaluate the pricing dynamics in the market. • Draw conclusions on the state of competition.
Phase 3	Framework for interventions / remedies <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Make recommendations that would improve competition. • Engage with stakeholders on the recommendations made by the market inquiry.

6.2. Timelines

The market inquiry is expected to commence in June 2014 and is likely to be completed by October 2015. Several of the steps highlighted below may overlap which could expedite the process.

²¹ Note that, in terms of section 43B(5) of the Competition Act, the Commission may amend aspects of the subject matter of the inquiry and the time within which the market inquiry is expected to be completed by further notice in the Government Gazette.

NOTICE 447 OF 2014
COMPETITION COMMISSION
APPLICATION FOR AN EXEMPTION

Notice is hereby given in terms of Schedule 1 of the Competition Act, No. 89 of 1998, as amended ("the Competition Act") that the Council for the Built Environment ("the CBE") acting on behalf of the Engineering Council of South Africa ("ECSA") has applied to the Competition Commission ("the Commission"), to be exempted from the provisions of Chapter 2 of the Competition Act. The CBE is a statutory body established in terms of section 2 of the Council for the Built Environment Act, Act No. 43 of 2000 ("the CBE Act"). The function of the CBE is to oversee the conduct of professional councils regulating professionals working in the various built environment professions.

The exemption application relates to the Identification of Work ("IDOW") rules of ECSA. The IDOW is a policy instrument that was developed by ECSA to regulate and/or identify the work that professionals falling under the engineering field are allowed to undertake, based on the professional's skills and competencies. The exemption application was filed under Schedule 1 Part A read with Part B of the Competition Act.

The exemption application is based on the premise that the IDOW rules are (i) necessary to maintain professional standards or the ordinary function of the profession in terms of Schedule 1, Part A of the Competition Act and (ii) provided for in the Built Environment legislative framework. In particular, the CBE relies on section 4(q) of the CBE Act, which gives it the responsibility to liaise with the Commission on behalf of the professional councils regarding the development and implementation of the IDOW rules.

In terms of Schedule 1 Part A (2) of the Competition Act:

"The Competition Commission may exempt all or part of the rules of a professional association from the provisions of Part A of Chapter 2 of the Competition Act for a specified period if, having regard to internationally applied norms, any restriction contained in those rules that has the effect of substantially preventing or lessening competition in a market is reasonably required to maintain-

- (a) professional standards; or
- (b) the ordinary function of the profession."

Notice regarding the above application is hereby published in terms of Schedule 1 Part A (3) of the Competition Act to allow interested parties or stakeholders to make written representations to the Commission as to why the application should or should not be granted. All representations must reach the Commission within 20 business days from the date of the publication of this notice.

Representations should be emailed to mbongisenin@compcom.co.za / tlabom@compcom.co.za. Alternatively, they can be posted to the Commission for the attention of Mr Mbongiseni Ndlovu / Mr Tlabo Mabye

NOTICE 448 OF 2014INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION COMMISSION*CUSTOMS TARIFF APPLICATIONS*LIST 06/2014

The International Trade Administration Commission (herein after referred to as ITAC or the Commission) has received the following application concerning the Customs Tariff. Any objection to or comments on this representation should be submitted to the Chief Commissioner, ITAC, Private Bag X753, Pretoria, 0001. Attention is drawn to the fact that the rate of duty mentioned in this application is that requested by the applicant and that the Commission may, depending on its findings, recommend a lower or higher rate of duty.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

The submission of confidential information to the Commission in connection with customs tariff applications is governed by section 3 of the Tariff Investigations Regulations, which regulations can be found on ITAC's website at <http://www.itac.org.za/documents/R.397.pdf>.

These regulations require that if any information is considered to be confidential, then a non-confidential version of the information must be submitted, simultaneously with the confidential version. In submitting a non-confidential version the regulations are strictly applicable and require parties to indicate:

- ☐ Each instance where confidential information has been omitted and the reasons for confidentiality;
- ☐ A summary of the confidential information which permits other interested parties a reasonable understanding of the substance of the confidential information; and
- ☐ In exceptional cases, where information is not susceptible to summary, reasons must be submitted to this effect.

This rule applies to all parties and to all correspondence with and submissions to the Commission, which unless clearly indicated to be confidential, will be made available to other interested parties.

The Commission will disregard any information indicated to be confidential that is not accompanied by a proper non-confidential summary or the aforementioned reasons.

If a party considers that any document of another party, on which that party is submitting representations, does not comply with the above rules and that such deficiency affects that party's ability to make meaningful representations, the details of the deficiency and the reasons why that party's rights are so affected must be submitted to the commission in writing forthwith (and at the latest 14 days prior to the date on which that party's submission is due).

Failure to do so timeously will seriously hamper the proper administration of the investigation, and such party will not be able to subsequently claim an inability to make meaningful representations on the basis of the failure of such other party to meet the requirements.

INCREASE IN THE RATE OF DUTY ON:

Helical springs classifiable under tariff subheading 7320.20 from 5% to 30% ad valorem, by way of creating an additional 8-digit tariff subheading under 7320.20 for: Helical springs with a wire diameter of more than 1.32mm but not exceeding 2.43mm.

Enquiries: ITAC Ref: 44/2013, Enquiries: Mr. D Thwala Tel: 012 394 5162 or Email: dthwala@itac.org.za.

REASONS AS STATED BY THE APPLICANT:

- The customers are importing the subject products at very low prices.
- The raw material costs are higher than the final imported product, making the industry uncompetitive.
- In the year 2008, the applicant employed 500 people in its Johannesburg and Durban branches. However, due to low priced imports and losing customers, the Durban branch had to be closed. This resulted in retrenchments of 250 employees. The employment numbers have since been further reduced to 145 due to the company's inability to compete with low priced imports.

PUBLICATION PERIOD:

Representation should be submitted within four (4) weeks of the date of this notice

NOTICE 449 OF 2014INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION COMMISSION*NOTICE OF INITIATION OF AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE ALLEGED DUMPING OF WHEELBARROWS ORIGINATING IN OR IMPORTED FROM THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA (CHINA)

The International Trade Administration Commission of South Africa (the Commission) accepted an application alleging that wheelbarrows originating in or imported from the People's Republic of China (China) is being dumped on the South African Customs Union (SACU) and causing material injury to the SACU industry concerned. The Applicant submitted sufficient evidence and established a prima facie case to enable the Commission to arrive at a reasonable conclusion that an investigation should be initiated on the basis of dumping, material injury and causality.

THE APPLICANT

The application was lodged by Lasher Tools.

THE PRODUCT

The product allegedly being dumped is wheelbarrows, classifiable under tariff subheading 8716.80.10, originating in or imported from China.

THE ALLEGATION OF DUMPING: PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA (CHINA)

The allegation of dumping is based on the comparison between the normal value and the export price. The Applicant was unable to obtain a domestic selling price in China. Therefore, in terms of the provisions of the Record of Understanding, the Applicant nominated Zimbabwe as an appropriate third country to determine the normal value and obtained the cooperation of a manufacturer in Zimbabwe. The normal value for China was therefore based on a quotation provided by the cooperating manufacturer in Zimbabwe. The export price for China was determined based on the official South African Revenue Service (SARS) statistics. An adjustment for transport was made to the f.o.b. import price to calculate the ex-factory export price. The dumping margin for China was determined to be 505.33%.

On this basis, the Commission found that there was a prima facie proof of dumping.

THE ALLEGATION OF MATERIAL INJURY AND CAUSAL LINK

The Applicant submitted evidence to show that it is experiencing price undercutting and price suppression. The Applicant also submitted evidence indicating a decline in market share and profit. It further submitted information to indicate a decline in growth and inability to raise capital investment.

On this basis the Commission found that there was prima facie proof of material injury and causal link.

PERIOD OF INVESTIGATION

The period of investigation for purposes of determining the dumping in the exporting country of origin will be from 1 February 2013 to 31 January 2014. The period of investigation for purposes of determining material injury will be from 1 July 2010 to 31 January 2014.

PROCEDURAL FRAMEWORK

Having decided that there is sufficient evidence and a prima facie case to justify the initiation of an investigation, the Commission has begun an investigation in terms of section 16 of the International Trade Administration Act, 2002 (the ITA Act). The Commission will conduct its investigation in accordance with the relevant sections of the ITA Act and the Commission's Anti-Dumping Regulations (ADR). Both the ITA Act and the ADR are available on the Commission's website (www.itac.org.za) or from the Trade Remedies section, on request.

In order to obtain the information it deems necessary for its investigation, the Commission will send non-confidential version of the application and questionnaires to all known importers and exporters, and known representative associations. The trade representative of the exporting country has also been notified. Importers and other interested parties are invited to contact the Commission as soon as possible in order to determine whether they have been listed and were furnished with the relevant documentation. If not, they should immediately ensure that they are sent copies. The questionnaire has to be completed and any other representations must be made within the time limit set out below.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Please note that if any information is considered to be confidential then a non-confidential version of the information must be submitted for the public file, simultaneously with the confidential version. In submitting a non-confidential version the following rules are strictly applicable and parties must indicate:

- where confidential information has been omitted and the nature of such information;
- reasons for such confidentiality;
- a summary of the confidential information which permits a reasonable understanding of the substance of the confidential information; and
- in exceptional cases, where information is not susceptible to summary, reasons must be submitted to this effect.

This rule applies to all parties and to all correspondence with and submissions to the Commission, which unless indicated to be confidential and filed together with a non-confidential version, will be placed on the public file and be made available to other interested parties.

If a party considers that any document of another party, on which that party is submitting representations, does not comply with the above rules and that such deficiency affects that party's ability to make meaningful representations, the details of the deficiency and the reasons why that party's rights are so affected must be submitted to the Commission in writing forthwith (and at the latest 14 days prior to the date on which that party's submission is due). Failure to do so timeously will seriously hamper the proper administration of the investigation, and such party will not be able to subsequently claim an inability to make meaningful representations on the basis of the failure of such other party to meet the requirements.

Subsection 33(1) of the ITA Act provides that any person claiming confidentiality of information should identify whether such information is confidential by nature or is otherwise confidential and, any such claims must be supported by a written statement, in each case, setting out how the information satisfies the requirements of the claim to confidentiality. In the alternative, a sworn statement should be made setting out reasons why it is impossible to comply with these requirements.

Section 2.3 of the ADR provides as follows:

“The following list indicates “information that is by nature confidential” as per section 33(1)(a) of the Main Act, read with section 36 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act (Act 2 of 2000):

- (a) management accounts;*
- (b) financial accounts of a private company;*
- (c) actual and individual sales prices;*
- (d) actual costs, including cost of production and importation cost;*
- (e) actual sales volumes;*
- (f) individual sales prices;*
- (g) information, the release of which could have serious consequences for the person that provided such information; and*
- (h) information that would be of significant competitive advantage to a competitor;*

provided that a party submitting such information indicates it to be confidential.”

ADDRESS

The response to the questionnaire and any information regarding this matter and any arguments concerning the allegation of dumping, material injury and the resulting threat of material injury must be submitted in writing to the following address:

PROCEDURES AND TIME LIMITS

All responses, including non-confidential copies of the responses, should be received by the Senior Manager: Trade Remedies I not later than 30 days from the date hereof, or from the date on which the letter accompanying the abovementioned questionnaire was received. The said letter shall be deemed to have been received seven days after the day of its dispatch.

Late submissions will not be accepted except with the prior written consent of the Commission. The Commission will give due consideration to written requests for an extension of not more than 14 days on good cause shown (properly motivated and substantiated), if received prior to the expiry of the original 30-day period. Merely citing insufficient time is not an acceptable reason for an extension. Please note that the Commission will not consider requests for extension by the Embassy on behalf of exporters.

The information submitted by any party may need to be verified by the Investigating Officers in order for the Commission to take such information into consideration. The Commission may verify the information at the premises of the party submitting the information, within a short period after the submission of the information to the Commission. Parties should therefore ensure that the information submitted will subsequently be available for verification. Specifically, it is planned to verify the information submitted by the exporters within three to five weeks subsequent to the submission of the information. This period will only be extended if it is not feasible for the Commission to do it within this time period or upon good cause shown, and with the prior written consent of the Commission, which should be requested at the time of the submission. It should be noted that unavailability of, or inconvenience to consultants, will not be considered to be good cause.

Parties should also ensure when they engage consultants that they will be available at the requisite times, to ensure compliance with the above time frames. Parties should also ensure that all the information requested in the applicable questionnaire is provided in the specified detail and format. The questionnaires are designed to ensure that the Commission is provided with all the information required to make a determination in accordance with the ITA Act and the ADR. The Commission may therefore refuse to verify information that is incomplete or does not comply with the format in the questionnaire, unless the Commission has agreed in writing to a deviation from the required format. A failure to submit an adequate a non-confidential version of the response that complies with the rules set out above under the heading Confidential Information will be regarded as an incomplete submission.

Parties, who experience difficulty in furnishing the information required, or submitting information in the format required, are therefore urged to make written applications to the Commission at an early stage for permission to deviate from the questionnaire or provide the information in an alternative format that can satisfy the Commission's requirements. The Commission will give due consideration to such a request on good cause shown.

Any interested party may request an oral hearing at any stage of the investigation in accordance with Section 5 of the ADR, provided that the party indicates reasons for not relying on written submissions only. The Commission may refuse an oral hearing if granting such hearing will unduly delay the finalisation of a determination. Parties requesting an oral hearing must provide the Commission with a detailed agenda for, and a detailed version, including a non-confidential version, of the information to be discussed at the oral hearing at the time of the request.

If the required information is not received in a satisfactory form within the time limit specified above, or if verification of the information cannot take place, the Commission may disregard the information submitted and make a finding on the basis of the facts available to it.

Enquiries may be directed to the investigating officers, Ms Regina Peta at telephone +27 12 394-3737 or Mr L Munzhelele +27 12 394-3593 or at fax +27 12 394-0518.

The International Trade Administration Commission (ITAC) hereby notifies all interested parties that, unless a duly substantiated request is made by or on behalf of the SACU industry, indicating that the expiry of the duty would be likely to lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping and injury, the following anti-dumping duties will expire during 2015:

4	Float and flat glass	India	26/03/10	25/09/14

The Commission will consider the information submitted in order to determine whether prima facie evidence exist to justify the initiation of a review. Should the Commission decide to initiate a review, notice will be given in the Government Gazette and other parties, being exporters and importers of the subject products, will be requested to comment and provide information.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Please note that if any information is considered to be confidential then a non-confidential version of the information must be submitted for the public file, simultaneously with the confidential version. If a party considers that any document of another party, on which that party is submitting representations, does not comply with the above rules and that such deficiency affects that party's ability to make meaningful representations, the details of the deficiency and the reasons why that party's rights are so affected must be submitted to the Commission in writing forthwith (and at the latest 14 days prior to the date on which that party's submission is due). Failure to do so timeously will seriously hamper the proper administration of the investigation, and such party will not be able to subsequently claim an inability to make meaningful representations on the basis of the failure of such other party to meet the requirements.

Subsection 33(1) of the ITA Act provides that any person claiming confidentiality of information should identify whether such information is confidential by nature or is otherwise confidential and, any such claims must be supported by a written statement, in each case, setting out how the information satisfies the requirements of the claim to confidentiality. PROCEDURES AND TIME LIMITS

Manufacturers in the SACU of the subject products listed above, who wish to submit a request for the duty to be reviewed prior to the expiry thereof, are requested to do so not later than close of business on 28 July 2014.

SACU manufacturers, who do submit a request before 28 July 2014, should submit duly substantiated information, indicating that the expiry of the duty would be likely to lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping and material injury, to the Commission.

It should be noted that the investigation process is complex and the Commission is subject to strict time limits within which to complete the investigation. Late submissions will therefore not be accepted, except with the prior written consent of the Commission. The Commission will give due consideration to written requests for an extension of not more than 14 days on good cause shown (properly motivated and substantiated), if received prior to the expiry of the original period. Merely citing insufficient time is not an acceptable reason for extension.

The information submitted by any party may need to be verified by the Investigating Officers in order for the Commission to take such information into consideration.

The Commission may verify the information at the premises of the party submitting the information, within a short period after the submission of the information to the Commission. Parties should therefore ensure that the information submitted will subsequently be available for verification. It is planned to do the verification of the information submitted by the exporters within three to five weeks subsequent to submission of the information. This period will only be extended if it is not feasible for the Commission to do it within this time period or upon good cause shown, and with the prior written consent of the Commission, which should be requested at the time of the submission. It should be noted that unavailability of, or inconvenience to consultants will not be considered to be good cause.

Parties should also ensure when they engage consultants that they will be available at the requisite times, to ensure compliance with the above time frames. Parties should also ensure that all the information requested in the applicable questionnaire is provided in the specified detail and format. The questionnaires are designed to ensure that the Commission is provided with all the information required to make a determination in accordance with the rules of Anti-Dumping Agreement. The Commission may therefore refuse to verify information that is incomplete or does not comply with the format in the questionnaire, unless the Commission has agreed in writing to a deviation from the required format. A failure to submit an adequate non-confidential version of the response that complies with the rules set out above under the heading Confidential Information will be regarded as an incomplete submission.

Parties, who experience difficulty in furnishing the information required, or submitting in the format required, are therefore urged to make written applications to the Commission at an early stage for permission to deviate from the questionnaire or provide the information in an alternative format that can satisfy the Commission's requirements. The Commission will give due consideration to such a request on good cause shown.

Any interested party may request an oral hearing at any stage of the investigation in accordance with Section 5 of the ADR, provided that the party indicates reasons for not relying on written submission only. The Commission may refuse an oral hearing if granting such hearing will unduly delay the finalisation of a determination. Parties requesting an oral hearing shall provide the Commission with a detailed agenda for, and a detailed version, including a non-confidential version, of the information to be discussed at the oral hearing at the time of the request.

If the required information and arguments are not received in a satisfactory form within the time limit specified above, or if verification of the information cannot take place, the Commission may disregard the information submitted and make a finding on the basis of the facts available to it.

Enquiries may be directed to the Senior Manager: Trade Remedies I, Ms Carina Janse van Vuuren, at telephone (012) 394-3594 or at fax (012) 394-0518.

“deposit” means a deposit as defined in the Banks Act, 1990 (Act No. 94 of 1990), or in the Mutual Banks Act, 1990 (Act No. 124 of 1993);

“non-reducible participation bond” means a participation bond, other than a reducible participation bond, whose conditions regarding the repayment of the capital and the payment of interest are agreed between the manager and the mortgagor, from time to time;

“reducible participation bond” means –

- (a) a participation bond which provides for the redemption by regular annual payments, or payments at shorter intervals, of the capital amount advanced and of interest due on the amount outstanding under the bond; and
- (b) a former non-reducible participation bond which after the registration of the participation bond, has been converted by written agreement between the mortgagee and the mortgagor, to a reducible participation bond as contemplated in paragraph (a);

“scheme” means a collective investment scheme in participation bonds as defined in the Act.

2. Valuation of property and screening of borrower

Before granting a loan upon the security of a participation bond, the manager must:-

- (a) take into account the financial standing, and the ability, of the borrower to make repayments of the loan;
- (b) arrange for the immovable property to be hypothecated under the participation bond, to be valued by a person who is independent from the manager and any of the manager's associates and, in the opinion of the manager, who is competent to make such a valuation and who must, in assessing the value of the immovable property, take cognisance of the type of immovable property, its locality, its state of repair, its ability to be sold and its income producing potential; and
- (c) ensure that a documented risk management programme is in place in order to assess the value of the property. The risk management programme must stipulate that an assessment of the property is to be conducted at least once in every three years.

3. Approval of loans

(1) The Board of Directors of the manager (who may delegate this function to a committee or other suitable person) must approve all loans granted upon the security of a participation bond.

(2) If a bond is a non-reducible mortgage bond then, subject to rule 5, no more than sixty seven percent of the value of the immovable property mortgaged or to be mortgaged under a participation bond, determined in terms of rule 2(b), may be advanced by the manager upon the security of such bond.

(3) If there is a pari passu ranking charge over the immovable property mortgaged or to be mortgaged under such participation bond, the maximum amounts which may be advanced by the manager as aforesaid, must be reduced by the maximum possible indebtedness secured under the pari passu ranking charge.

5. Maximum amount of bond: collateral security
