Notice Submissions Rule: Single notice, single email

Dear Valued Customer,

Over the last six months, GPW has been experiencing problems with many customers that are still not complying with GPW's rule of single notice, single email (with proof of payment or purchase order).

You are advised that effective from 18 January 2016, all notice submissions received that do not comply with this rule will be failed by our system and your notice will not be processed.

In the case where a Z95, Z95Prov or TForm3 Adobe form is submitted with content, there should be a separate Adobe form completed for each notice content which must adhere to the single notice, single email rule.

A reminder that documents must be attached separately in your email to GPW. (In other words, your email should have an electronic Adobe Form plus proof of payment/purchase order – 2 separate attachments – where notice content is applicable, it should also be a 3rd separate attachment).

To those customers who are complying with this rule, we say Thank you!

Regards,

Government Printing Works

Please note that any notices cancelled after the cancellation deadline will be published and charged at full cost.

Your request for cancellation must be accompanied by the relevant notice reference number (N-).

AMENDMENTS TO NOTICES

note!

With effect from 01 October, GPW will not longer accept amendments to notices. The cancellation process will need to be followed and a new notice submitted thereafter for the next available publication date.

Until then, amendments to notices must be received before the submission deadline.

CUSTOMER INQUIRIES

Many of our customers request immediate feedback/confirmation of notice placement in the gazette from our Contact Centre once they have submitted their notice – While GPW deems it one of their highest priorities and responsibilities to provide customers with this requested feedback and the best service at all times, we are only able to do so once we have started processing your notice submission.

GPW has a 2-working day turnaround time for processing notices received according to the business rules and deadline submissions.

Please keep this in mind when making inquiries about your notice submission at the Contact Centre.

PROOF OF PAYMENTS

REMINDER

GPW reminds you that all notice submissions MUST be submitted with an accompanying proof of payment (PoP) or purchase order (PO). If any PoP's or PO's are received without a notice submission, it will be failed and your notice will not be processed.

When submitting your notice request to submit.egazette@gpw.gov.za, please ensure that a purchase order (GPW Account customer) or proof of payment (non-GPW Account customer) is included with your notice submission. All documentation relating to the notice submission must be in a single email.

A reminder that documents must be attached separately in your email to GPW. (In other words, your email should have an Adobe Form plus proof of payment/purchase order – 2 separate attachments – where notice content is applicable, it should also be a 3rd separate attachment).

NOTICE 1220 OF 2015

INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION COMMISSION
CUSTOMS TARIFF APPLICATIONS

LIST 13/2015

The International Trade Administration Commission (herein after referred to as ITAC or the Commission) has received the following application concerning the Customs Tariff. Any objection to or comments on this representation should be submitted to the Chief Commissioner, ITAC, Private Bag X753, Pretoria, 0001. Attention is drawn to the fact that the rate of duty mentioned in this application is that requested by the applicant and that the Commission may, depending on its findings, recommend a lower or higher rate of duty.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

The submission of confidential information to the Commission in connection with customs tariff applications is governed by section 3 of the Tariff Investigations Regulations, which regulations can be found on ITAC's website at <http://www.itac.org.za/documents/R.397.pdf>.

These regulations require that if any information is considered to be confidential, then a non-confidential version of the information must be submitted, simultaneously with the confidential version. In submitting a non-confidential version the regulations are strictly applicable and require parties to indicate:

- ❑ Each instance where confidential information has been omitted and the reasons for confidentiality;*
- ❑ A summary of the confidential information which permits other interested parties a reasonable understanding of the substance of the confidential information; and*
- ❑ In exceptional cases, where information is not susceptible to summary, reasons must be submitted to this effect.*

This rule applies to all parties and to all correspondence with and submissions to the Commission, which unless clearly indicated to be confidential, will be made available to other interested parties.

The Commission will disregard any information indicated to be confidential that is not accompanied by a proper non-confidential summary or the aforementioned reasons.

If a party considers that any document of another party, on which that party is submitting representations, does not comply with the above rules and that such deficiency affects that party's ability to make meaningful representations, the details of the deficiency and the reasons why that party's rights are so affected must be submitted to the commission in writing forthwith (and at the latest 14 days prior to the date on which that party's submission is due).

Failure to do so timeously will seriously hamper the proper administration of the investigation, and such party will not be able to subsequently claim an inability to make meaningful representations on the basis of the failure of such other party to meet the requirements.

INCREASE IN THE RATE OF DUTY ON:

Acrylic sanitary ware classifiable under tariff subheading 3922.10 from 20% ad valorem to 30% ad valorem duty.

REASONS FOR THE APPLICATION:

As a reason for the application, the applicant indicated the following:

*“The main reason for applying for an increase in the customs duty on tariff sub-heading 3922.10 from 20 to 30 % is to level the playing field and to cushion the domestic industry against low priced imports (which distorts the domestic market), to save jobs and to bring the domestic industry back to profitability. Registration with the Allied Health Professions Council of South Africa (AHPCSA) confers on practitioners the right and privilege to practise those allied health professions for which they have been registered in terms of the Act. Correspondingly, practitioners have moral and ethical duties to others and society given that the fundamental premise of any healthcare professional is the recognition that responsibility is owed to the patient first and foremost, as well as to society, to other health professionals, and to self<sup>1</sup>. The core values and standards referred to below in the Principles of Medical Ethics are the foundation for the general and/or aspirational ethical guidelines. It is impossible to develop a complete set of specific ethical prescriptions applicable to all conceivable practitioner/patient interaction. These guidelines are, therefore, designed to assist the practitioner in deciding what course of action would be most ethically appropriate according to each situation.

B. PRINCIPLES OF MEDICAL ETHICS

1. Respect for persons

Respect patients as persons, and acknowledge their intrinsic worth, dignity, and sense of value.

2. Best interest or well-being: Beneficence

Do not harm patients or act against their best interests, even when they conflict with your self-interest.

3. Human Rights and Dual Loyalty

Act in the best interests of patients and respect their human rights, even when these rights are in conflict with state or non-state authorities.

4. Rights of the Individual

Recognise that some interests of individuals may be so important that they acquire the status of human rights in the form of either claims or freedoms to be respected by all.

5. Autonomy

Honour the patients' right to self-determination or to make their own informed choices, living their lives by their own beliefs, values and preferences.

6. Integrity

Incorporate core ethical values and standards as the foundation for good character and responsible practice.

7. Truthfulness

In professional relationships with patients, regard the truth and truthfulness as the basis of trust.

8. Confidentiality

In professional relationships with patients, treat personal and/or private information as confidential, unless overriding reasons confer a moral right to disclosure.

9. Compassion

Be sensitive to and empathise with individual and social needs for comfort and support in a manner becoming of a healthcare professional.

10. Justice

Treat all individuals and groups in an impartial, fair and just manner.

11. Recognition of Diversity

Respect the rights of people to be different and to have different beliefs.

12. Professional competence and self-improvement

Continually endeavour to attain the highest level of knowledge and skills required within your area of practice.

13. Community

Consistent with your professional abilities and standing in the community, strive to contribute to the betterment of society.

C. DUTY AND OBLIGATION*1. A duty is an obligation or responsibility to act or withhold action and may be ethical, legal, or both. Duties are inherent to the personal, social, professional and political spheres of our lives. Accordingly, there are different kinds of duties:

(a) For human beings there are “natural duties”, namely un-acquired general duties simply because we are members of the human community. These are the natural duties to refrain from doing harm, to promote the good, or to be fair and just;

(b) For practitioners there are “moral obligations”, namely general duties we acquire by being qualified and registered as practitioners. These are the professional duties to provide healthcare, relieve pain, gain informed consent, respect confidentiality and be truthful, for example;

(c) For practitioners working in specific institutions or settings there are “acquired duties” specific to the particular institutionalised role or position. These are the duties of a health professional employed in a hospital, an educational institution or in a healthcare practice. These duties are circumscribed in employment contracts, job descriptions, conventional expectations, and the like; and

(d) “Legal duties” are duties imposed by the common law and by statute law, for example, the Act.

D. DUTY TO THE PATIENT*1. Patients' well-being or best interests

- (a) Always regard concern for the best interests or well-being of your patients as your primary professional duty.
- (b) Be aware of the possibility of conflict of interest with regard to human rights and dual loyalties.
- (c) Honour the trust of your patients.
- (d) Be mindful that a practitioner is in a position of influence and authority over a patient and avoid abusing your position.
- (e) Within the normal constraints of your practice, be accessible to patients when you are on duty, and make arrangements for access when you are not on duty or suitable alternative arrangements;
- (f) Make sure your personal beliefs do not prejudice your patients' care. Beliefs that might prejudice care relate to patients' race, culture, ethnicity, social status, lifestyle, perceived economic worth, age, gender, disability, communicable disease status, sexual orientation, religious or spiritual beliefs, among other.
- (g) If you feel your beliefs might affect the treatment you provide, explain this to your patients, and inform them of their right to see another professional.
- (h) Do not refuse or delay treatment because you believe that patients' actions have contributed to their condition.
- (i) Apply your mind when making assessments and considering appropriate treatment.
- (j) Act quickly to protect patients from risk if you believe yourself to be impaired.
- (k) Respond to criticism and complaints promptly and constructively.
- (l) Inform your patients if you are in the employ of, in association with, linked to, or have an interest in any organisation or facility that could be interpreted by an average person as potentially creating a conflict of interest or dual loyalty in respect of your patient care.
- (m) Provide healthcare in emergency situations within the limits of your practice, experience and competency. If unable to do so, refer the patient to a colleague who can provide the required care.

  - (b) the range of diagnostic procedures and treatment options generally available to the user;
  - (c) the benefits, risks, costs and consequences generally associated with each option; and

- (d) the user's right to refuse health services and explain the implications, risks, obligations of such refusal.
- (e) The practitioner must respect the patient's autonomy and self-determination in that, on receiving sufficient information regarding the treatment, the patient can decide whether or not to continue with the treatment.
- (f) The practitioner should respect the right of the patient to seek another medical opinion before continuing with any treatment.

2. These notices may include information about the practitioner's change in practice arrangements, healthcare information and changes in tariff structures.

H. COMMUNICATION WITH COLLEAGUES

It is permissible, common practice and should be encouraged amongst practitioners to communicate the setting up of a practice or practice address changes to colleagues.

I. DIRECTORIES AND PUBLIC LISTS

1. Prospective patients and other practitioners should have ready access to accurate, comprehensive, and well-presented information about the practitioners practising in their area in order to make informed choices.
2. Directories and public lists, either printed or electronic, with the names of practitioners, their practice details and qualifications may be distributed for the benefit of members of the public and peers.

J. OUTSIDE SIGNS AND NAME-PLATES (OUTSIDE THE PHYSICAL PRACTICE)

  - (a) Names (initials) and surname of the practitioner;
  - (b) Professional designation;
  - (c) Practitioner qualifications;

(e) Consulting hours,

provided that where a practitioner prefers that particulars concerning telephone numbers and consulting hours should not be affixed on to such name-plate, a separate plate, not larger than 360mm X 250mm, indicating the practitioner's telephone number(s) and consulting hours may be affixed directly under such name-plate.

2. Logos may be used on outside signs and name-plates, provided that the size of the logo is commensurate with the overall composition of the sign or name-plate and that there is no breach of any copyright, intellectual property issues or otherwise.
3. Only one outside sign may be used, except in the case of a large complex with more than one entrance where a sign may be placed at each entrance. The sign should be placed on the premises where the practice is situated, or, at most, at the street corner closest to the premises.
4. A name-plate may be used on the door of the consulting room.
5. In the case of occupants of large complexes where special provision is made in the entrance hall and on the various floors to indicate the tenants, it shall be permissible to make use of such provision.
6. If necessary, in large complexes, a name-plate with the name of the practitioner only, may be used in the corridor for the direction of the patients.
7. An outside sign indicating "PRIVATE PARKING FOR ....." (indicating the street name and number only) will be permissible (for example PRIVATE PARKING FOR 23 FORD STREET).
8. In the event of a change in the membership of a company, partnership, or association, the original name-plate may be displayed for a period of six months whereafter a name-plate with the current information shall be displayed. Should a practice move to other premises, the name of the practice and the new address may also be displayed at the vacated address for six months.
9. If an illuminated sign is used, the only sources of illumination may be a constant white light.

K. PRACTICE NAMES

1. Practitioners may use as the name of a practice their own names and/or the names of their partners, directors or associates or the name of one or of certain

- partners or associates or directors, together with the words “and partners”, “incorporated” or “and associates”, as the case may be.
2. Descriptive trade names for the practices may not be used.
  3. The use of an expression for a practice or building name such as “hospital”, “clinic” or “institute” or any other special term which could create the impression that a practice is, or forms part of, or is in association with a hospital, clinic or similar institution, may not be used.
  4. With respect to building names -
    - (a) a building occupied by practitioners may have a name indicating the profession of the occupants only if there are at least two such independent professional practices in the building (e.g. Chiropractic Centre, Homoeopathic Centre, Acupuncture Centre);
    - (b) where only one of any category of professional practice is conducted in the building, the name of the building may not refer to that profession; or
    - (c) in the case of practitioners of different professions practising in the same building, the name “Health Centre” may, however, be used.
  5. Personal liability companies and partnerships falling in the same category may not be indicated as “practicing as” or “trading as”.

L. PRACTITIONERS AS AUTHORS

1. A practitioner who is the author or co-author of books or academic articles may mention his or her own name as author or co-author, as the case may be, and indicate his or her professional standing as this promotes the profession’s duty to disseminate information about advances in health sciences.
2. Practitioners with the necessary knowledge and skills may participate in the presentation and discussion of health topics by means of public addresses or through the printed or electronic media to lay audiences, provided that no information about their standing is given which may imply that a practitioner is the only, the best, or the most experienced in his or her particular field.
3. Practitioners should not divulge details of their practices when participating in the aforementioned presentations or discussions as this may be construed as touting or canvassing for patients.
4. Practitioners acting as spokespersons for an organisation or institution may be named. It should also be stated explicitly that such practitioners cannot offer individual advice to patients while on the programme or in any article. In such instances, practitioners may not promote their own practices, but should instead only promote the profession, discuss associated general healthcare matters or policy and direct any patient enquiries to see a registered practitioner.

M. FACEBOOK/OTHER SOCIAL MEDIA INTERACTION

1. The utilization of any social media (not limited to social networks such as FACEBOOK) may take place within the provisions of the relevant laws and regulations, including, but not limited to, the laws and regulations applicable to the professions registered under the AHPCSA.
2. The AHPCSA recognizes, and respects, that freedom of expression, an entrenched right within the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, is a necessary and fundamental tenet of democracy – this right is not absolute, however, and is therefore limited by the Constitution and other aspects of law.
3. Section 36 of the Bill of Rights provides for the limitation of a right to the extent that the limitation is reasonable and justifiable in an open and democratic society, based on human dignity, equality and freedom, taking into account all relevant factors including among other things the nature of the right and the nature and extent of the limitation. This limits the exercise of one's own right in terms of the constitution, while it promotes the prohibition of infringing on another person's rights.
4. No practitioner may interact on social networks in any manner which might be construed as defamatory or might fall into the lesser category of contumelia, or insult, either to other individual practitioners, to the profession as a whole or to the AHPCSA itself; these interactions infringe on the rights enjoyed by parties so affected.
5. Social media should never be used in a way that breaches any of the prescribed Code of Ethics, policies or regulations. Practitioners are prohibited from using social media to:
  - (a) breach any of the prescribed policies, regulations or Code of Ethics;
  - (b) breach obligations with respect to the rules and regulations of the AHPCSA or any other organization;
  - (c) breach any obligations they may have relating to confidentiality;

- (d) defame or disparage the AHPCSA or any of its employees or members, practitioners or patients, suppliers, vendors or other stakeholders;
  - (e) harass or bully any person in any way ;
  - (f) unlawfully discriminate against any person; and
  - (g) breach any other laws or ethical standards (for example, never use social media in a false or misleading way, such as by claiming to be someone other than yourself or by making misleading statements).
7. Practitioners may not provide direct reference to another healthcare provider to any individual on any social media platforms.
  8. Limitations on advertising have at the core the fiduciary relationship between a practitioner and the patient, with protection of the patient being the overriding principle; trust between the practitioner and patient is critical for the ultimate well-being of any patient.
  9. The manner and extent of social media interaction also bears reflection within the paradigm of the Consumer Protection Act, 2008 (Act 68 of 2008). Any claims made by practitioners on social media sites are also subject to the provisions of the Act and any other related legislation.
  10. Interaction with any patient on any open web- or social media site accessible by the public or any other third party (other than the practitioner and consumer/patient) in a manner that is associated with the condition of that patient or constitutes medical advice is disallowed.
  11. The ethical and legal duty to protect patient confidentiality applies equally on Internet as to other media.
  12. Practitioners who post online have an ethical obligation to declare any conflicts of interest.
  13. The AHPCSA advises practitioners not to accept as friends, followers or any other means of interaction, any patient onto any personal social media profile.
  14. The AHPCSA further advises that practitioners should be conscious of their online image and how it may impact on their professional standing or the professional standing of their profession.

N. GENERAL

1. Notifications concerning practitioners who stand in a relationship with private hospitals, clinics, gyms and health spas, must in all respects conform to these guidelines.
2. The Council and/or the professional board retain the final authority for deciding on the acceptability, the content and format of notifications put out by practitioners.
3. Disciplinary cases pertaining to practitioners who are in breach of the guidelines for making professional services known, as contained in this document, will be dealt with in a manner that will result in the finalisation of these cases within the shortest possible period of time.
4. In the case of uncertainty about the application of these guidelines or in the case of intended promotional action or notifications that are not covered within these guidelines, practitioners should consult the Council for appropriate guidance. Professional associations should on their part, in the case of intended promotional actions or notifications not covered in these guidelines, make appropriate recommendations to the Council on how to deal with such matters.
