SCHEDULE 3

GUIDELINES

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1. These guidelines are intended to outline a general approach that should be adopted by BSLs in their coverage of the municipal elections. Elections are an important public event and as such fall within the ambit of news and current affairs. BSLs are encouraged, in the public interest, to provide a full, impartial, and independent coverage of the elections.
- 1.2. The Authority does not intervene in the news and programming operations of the broadcasters. BSLs' role during elections does not differ from their normal journalistic role during non-election periods. Normal ethical considerations will continue to apply. A distinguishing feature of the election period is the obligation to achieve equitable coverage of political parties or independent candidates without abdicating news value judgments.

2. EDITORIAL MATTERS

- 2.1. Section 59 of the ECA prescribes specific requirements for the treatment of political parties or independent candidates during the election period by broadcasters in their editorial programming. The requirements are:
  - (a) If during an election period, the coverage of any broadcasting service licensee extends to the field of elections, political parties or independent candidates and issues relevant thereto, the broadcasting licensee concerned must afford reasonable opportunities for the discussion of conflicting views and must treat all political parties and all independent candidates equitably.
  - (b) In the event of any criticism against a political party or an independent candidate being leveled in a particular programme of any broadcasting service licensee without such party having been afforded an opportunity to respond thereto in such programme or without the view of the party having been reflected therein, the broadcasting service licensee concerned will be obliged to afford the party a reasonable opportunity to respond to criticism.

- (c) If within 48 hours before the commencement of the polling period or during the polling period, a broadcasting service licensee intends broadcasting a programme in which a particular political party or an independent candidate is criticized, the broadcasting service licensee must ensure that the political party or independent candidate is given a reasonable opportunity to respond thereto in the same programme, or to do so as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter”.

- 2.2. The Authority advises broadcasters to take special care during the final 48 hours prior to Election Day. There will be limited time for broadcasters to ensure that political parties’ or independent candidates’ right of reply is honoured during this period. Broadcasters should, therefore, ensure that parties are given time to reply, should this be necessary, within the same programme during this period.

3. EQUITABLE TREATMENT

3.1. Equitable treatment means fair treatment

Each BSL will be expected to treat parties fairly. Equitable treatment is unlikely to be achieved in a single programme but can be achieved in a series of programmes. Each BSL should be consistent in its treatment of contesting parties and of conflicting views.

3.2. Broadcasting service licensee must seek out information.

BSLs should recognise their obligation to the electorate to provide a full and accurate record of events and developments. BSLs should not rely on political parties or independent candidates to bring information to them but should actively seek out information. Failure to do so will give parties with greater resources inequitable amounts of news coverage.

4. PRINCIPLES TO BE ADHERED TO

To further assist BSLs in fulfilling the requirements of the Act the following principles will apply:

4.1. Fairness

- (a) All news coverage should be fair to all interests concerned;
- (b) Care should be taken to balance the exposure given to the non-political activities of candidates (such as attendance at functions, sporting events, etc);
- (c) All parties should receive equitable treatment on current affairs programmes. If the programme intends to feature party representatives, parties contesting the elections must be invited, with reasonable notice, to participate either in the same programme or in a series of programmes; and
- (d) The requirement that broadcasters give an opportunity for conflicting views to be heard should not be interpreted as a requirement that all parties be heard on any subject, only that all views be heard. Nor is it a requirement that all views be heard on the same programme.

4.2. The right of reply to broadcast criticism

- (a) Each BSL should afford all political parties and independent candidates reasonable opportunity to respond to criticism broadcast by that BSL. However, affording parties reasonable time to respond should not amount to forcing BSLs to turn their editorial programmes into a series of replies and replies-to-replies. There should be a distinction between demands for the right to reply to mild or rhetorical criticism, which properly forms part of the cut and thrust of robust political contest; and demands for the right to reply to criticisms which result in clear and immediate damage to a political party or an independent candidate.
- (b) With regard to rhetorical criticisms, BSLs must have the flexibility to incorporate responses into their formal news patterns. With regard to damaging criticisms, BSLs should give the offended party an opportunity to respond. The party should be afforded the earliest and most appropriate opportunity to do so. Broadcasters should, however, not allow political parties or independent candidates to use their right to reply to criticism to manipulate or distort the general principle of equity.

4.3. Coverage of government

During the election period, BSLs must recognise that government officials are in a position to use their incumbency to advance their electoral prospects. During the election period, BSLs should regard with particular caution any statement or action by an official of an incumbent party. In particular, BSLs need to ensure that, during the election period, they do not afford the policies of incumbent parties' or independent candidate's greater legitimacy than they would afford those policies or actions if the party was not in government.

4.4. Coverage of non-participating organisations

In providing a reasonable opportunity for the discussion of conflicting views, non-participating political parties, independent candidates, and organisations affiliated to alliances should not be excluded from debates and news bulletins. They should be included in terms of normal journalistic practice – when the topic is one in which they have a material interest. However, they should not be included with such frequency that they distort the general principle of equity between registered, contesting parties.

4.5. Coverage of election results

BSLs, particularly the public BSL, have an obligation to inform the electorate of the election results, as they become available. Coverage of election results may also include a comment, analysis, and interpretation. Special care should be taken to ensure the accuracy of all results broadcast.

5. CONCLUSION

The guidelines provide a framework to BSLs covering the elections in which the system of Party Election Broadcasts and Political Advertising will operate.”

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM ON THE REVIEW OF THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS BROADCASTS AND POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENTS REGULATIONS, 2011

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1. The Independent Communications Authority of South Africa (“the Authority”) is reviewing the Municipal Elections Broadcasts and Political Advertisements Regulations, 2011 as amended.<sup>1</sup> South Africa is gearing up for the municipal elections of 2021 to elect councils for all district, metropolitan and local municipalities in each of the country's nine provinces.
- 1.2. Municipal elections are held every five (5) years and the Authority is required to review the elections broadcasting regulations to assess its relevance during every election year.
- 1.3. The purpose of the regulations is to determine and prescribe the framework and guidelines under which Party Election Broadcasts (“PEBs”) and Political Advertisements (“PAs”) will be conducted and carried by various licensees during the municipal elections period.
- 1.4. This review process is aimed at improving the regulations to ensure its relevance during each election period. The review process also presents the Authority with an opportunity to provide clarity to stakeholders on different responsibilities and expectations for Broadcasting Service Licensees (“BSLs”), political parties and independent candidates during the elections broadcasting period. The broadcasting of elections is an important public event which falls within the area of news and current affairs.

- 1.5. In this regard, the Authority is guided by the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (“the Constitution”), the Broadcasting Act, 1999 (Act No. 4 of 1999) (“Broadcasting Act”), the Independent Communications Authority of South Africa Act, 2000 (Act No. 13 of 2000) (“ICASA Act”), Electronic Communications Act, 2005 (Act No. 36 of 2005) (“ECA”), in reviewing the regulations.
- 1.6. Section 57(3) of the ECA directs the Authority to consult with the relevant BSLs, and all political parties before making any determination in making time available for political parties, including the scheduling and duration of PEBs.
- 1.7. Section 57(4) of the ECA provides that “In making determination in terms of subsection (2), the Authority may impose such conditions on a public broadcasting service licensee with respect to party election broadcasts as it considers necessary, having due regard to the fundamental principle that all political parties are to be treated equitably.”
- 1.8. Section 57(2) of the ECA enjoins the Authority to “determine the time to be made available to political parties for the purposes of subsection (1) including the durations and scheduling of party elections broadcasts, taking into account the financial and programming implications for the broadcasting services in question”.

2. SUMMARY OF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

This section provides explanatory notes to the reasoning behind the proposed amendments. The amendments follow an analysis of, among others; the need to align these regulations with the National Election Broadcast regulations, as amended<sup>2</sup>, the alignment of definitions to the Authority's broadcast regulations, the concerns previously raised by various stakeholders during the consultation process and while implementing the regulations, and the Authority's 2016 Municipal Election Coverage: Compliance report.

2.1. Ad regulation 1:

2.1.1. "Current affairs programme" is amended to align it with the definition as contained in other broadcasting regulations published by the Authority, such as the ICASA Local Television Content Regulations 3.

2.1.2. After the definition of ICASA, "Independent candidate" definition is inserted. During the Municipal elections, individual candidates have been allowed to stand as candidates in the wards, however, the ECA only makes mention of political parties. To that end, the 2011 Municipal Elections Regulations and the National and Provincial Elections Regulations, have only been making provisions for the political parties and not individual candidates in terms of allocation of the PEB slots.

2.1.3. During the Authority's previous consultation workshops on the Regulations, stakeholders have raised concerns that the Regulations do not make provision to allocate the PEB slots to individual candidates, even though they were legally allowed to contest for the Municipal Elections. The Authority has responded that the enabling legislation, the ECA, only mentions political parties.

2.1.4. In a judgement handed down on 11 June 2020<sup>4</sup>, the Constitutional Court ruled that Parliament was to change the Electoral Act to include provisions that allow independent candidates to compete in national elections.

- 2.1.5. Not only has the law been allowing the individual candidates to contest Municipal Elections for the past years, but the Constitutional court judgement has upheld the right of an individual to contest at the national and provincial level.
- 2.1.6. The Constitutional Court declared that the Electoral Act 73 of 1998 is unconstitutional to the extent that it requires that adult citizens may be elected to the National Assembly and Provincial Legislatures only through their membership of political parties.
- 2.1.7. The Authority's preliminary view is that it is under a constitutional obligation to align its regulations with the provisions of section 9(3)(b) of the Constitution as interpreted by the Constitutional Court. This would include the Municipal Elections Draft Regulations which only speaks of political parties.
- 2.1.8. The Authority is a creature of statute and can only act subject to its governing legislation being the ECA, however, of pre-eminence to the ECA and even the Electoral Act is the Constitution and where such legislation is contrary to the Constitution, the Constitution takes precedence and overrides same. As such, the finding of the Constitutional Court stands as to the interpretation and understanding of section 19 of the Constitution and as such, independent candidates may stand for office irrespective of what the Electoral Act and/or what the ECA states. It is the preliminary view of the Authority that they also must similarly be allocated slots as political parties would be allocated the slots by the Authority.
- 2.1.9. The words "or independent candidate" are inserted after political party throughout the draft regulations to give effect to the Constitutional Court judgement discussed above.

2.2. Ad regulation 3(c):

2.2.1. The word “political” is inserted before the party to clarify that the regulations apply to political parties contesting the municipal elections and not just any party. During the consultations by the Authority, stakeholders have questioned why the Authority does not allocate airtime for other organisations, such as the Independent Electoral Commission. The Authority added the word political to clarify the intention of the regulations as per the enabling legislative provisions, which is that the airtime must be allocated only to political parties contesting the elections.

2.3. Ad regulation 4:

2.3.1. There is an insertion of new sub-regulation (9) to provide for the process that will apply in the event of a rejection of a PEB by the broadcasting service licensee. The previous regulations only provided for processes to be followed if a broadcaster rejects a PA submitted by a political party and there was no provision in case of a PEB rejection, to that end, the process has been clarified.

2.4. Ad regulation 4(14)(a):

2.4.1. The Authority has increased the number of PEB slots from eight (8) to ten (10) and reduced the time of the slots from one (1) minute to fifty (50) seconds. The reduction in the length of the slots will enable the Authority to allocate more slots for political parties and independent candidates contesting the elections. This will provide new parties and independent candidates an opportunity to be heard by voters on a possibly larger scale than before.

2.5. Ad regulation 4 (12) (c):

2.5.1. The words “by it” were removed to correct a grammatical error.

2.6. Ad regulation 4(13) (a):

2.6.1. The PEB slots were decreased to fifty (50) seconds from one (1) minute to enable the Authority to allocate more slots for political parties and individual candidates contesting the elections. This will provide new parties and individual candidates an opportunity to be heard by voters on a possibly larger scale than before. The Authority allocates the slots on an equitable basis and the number of seats previously held are taken into consideration. As much as the slots are equitable and fair, the proposed amendments will ensure a greater opportunity of exposure for political parties and independent candidates concerned.

2.7. Ad regulation 6(13):

2.7.1. The insertion of PEBs to clarify that a BSL must not transmit a PA immediately before or after another PA or PEB. During the consultation workshops by the Authority, some stakeholders have cautioned that it may appear as though a certain broadcaster is biased towards a certain political party if a PA or PEB is broadcast immediately after the other.

2.8. Ad regulation 6(14):

2.8.1. The insertion of the new regulation 6(14) to ensure that PAs are identified through a standard pre-recorded top and tail disclaimer. The provision is to ensure that any member of the public can identify the PA and not associate it with the partiality of a broadcaster toward any political party.

2.9. Ad regulation 8(1) b:

- 2.9.1. The Authority decreased the days from thirty (30) to twenty-one (21) days within which the BSL, Political parties, and independent candidates must notify the Authority in writing of two names that will represent each party or BSL. The days are aligned to the notification period for the broadcast period given by the Authority to political parties to ensure that all information is submitted at the same time and avoid returning to the Authority with the names nine (9) days later.

2.10. Ad regulation 8(2):
